Happenings in and Around Frank

A. V. Lang went to Calgary on Saturday last.

Mr. Martin, the barber at the Frank Hotel, has left town.

Mr. Morgan, the school inspector, visited the Frank school on Monday.

A. I. Blais left on Saturday for Ontario, where he will spend two or three weeks.

Dr. McKay met the miners at 8 o'clock on Sunday in the Miners' hall, to arrange for a class in "First Aid to the Wounded."

Mrs. C. V. O'Hara went to Lethbridge Tuesday on a visit to her aunt, Mrs. H. Miron. While in Lethbridge Mrs. O'Hara will consult a dentist.

The Imperial hotel is to have a new manager next week in the person of Mr. Scott who takes charge on Monday. Mr. Bensch is giving up control on Saturday.

Two vagrants were found by the police on Thursday night last around the C. P. R. station. They were taken to the barracks and on Friday were sentenced to two months at Lethbridge, where they were escorted to on Friday night.

The boys of Frank trimmed Blairmore boys at hockey on Wednesday to the tune of 4 to 2. This leaves the Frank boys winners of The Crow's Nest Pass boys' league, at least they have beaten both Coloma and Blairmore twice games out of three.

Mr. E. Acheson, who now plays on the C. P. R. team in Frank, is not going to accept any of the offers made him to play on either the Victoria or Vancouver Hockey teams for the remainder of this season. He will continue to play with the team in his home town.

The box social given in the school hall on Thursday night was a great success. A good number listened to an interesting and amusing programme, after which Mr. Drumm auctioned a large number of beautiful basketts. Mrs. R. J. McGowan got first prize for the most original basket, while Mrs. Patpore got the prize for the most beautiful one. About $55.00 was realized, which is to be devoted to the work of the boy scouts in the town.

Coleman Notes

Alex. Cameron, district deputy of the A. F. & A. M., paid an official visit to Cowley lodge on Monday.

A large number of local dance artists attended the whist drive and dance at Blairmore on Friday night and report having a right merry time.

Rev. T. M. Murray went to Lethbridge Monday, where on Tuesday night he delivered an illustrated address on the subject of "Mission Work in India."

The guy who came here a week or so ago to look over Coleman with a view to raising to life a newspaper, got too many inward applications of firewater and left town as quiet as a lamb. It takes something more than thirty years experience in newspaper work to qualify a man for the management of a newspaper. "Jackie didn't have the dough to rise!"

February Rod and Gun

"Wild Duck Conservation" by Frank Hyde, formerly Editor of Out-door Canada, is the leading number in the February issue of Rod and Gun in Canada, published by W. J. Taylor, Limited, Woodstock, Ont. No sportsman interested in the preservation of our wild fowl should fail to procure a copy of the February number and read this article from first to last. A fascinating tale is that which has been contributed by Martin Hunter, the well known writer who spent forty years, from 1863 to 1903 in the service of the Hudson Bay Co. The story which is entitled "A Tragedy which Caused the Siege of Fort Ellice" deals with the rash act of an employee of the company, by which the passions of the Indians were inflamed and the lives of all in the fort endangered, and the subsequent diplomatic handling of the men by the Factor. Fox Farms in Prince Edward Island, A. H. Day Trip in the Lillooet District, British Columbia, A Moose Hunt on the Preserve of the Shawinigan Club, Quebec, and other articles serve as interesting reminders of the representative character of this Canadian sportswoman's publication.

The Editor's Easy Snap

1/2 is the way some people view an editor's duties:
Most any one can be an editor. All the editor has to do is to sit at a desk six days out of the week, four weeks out of the month, twelve months of the year, and edit staff like this:
Mrs. Jones, of Cactus Creek, let out an opinion slip last week and it came in the mailer.

"A mischievous boy in Pictetown threw a stone and struck Mr. Piso in the nelly last Tuesday."

"Mrs. Akers clobbered on the roof of his house last week looking for a leak and fell, striking himself on the back porch."

"While Harry Green was escorting Miss Eloise Wiss from the church social last Friday night a savage bull dog attacked them and bit Mr. Green several times on the public square."

"Bill S. Denton, of Running Creek, was playing with a cat last Friday, when it scratched him on the veranda."

"Mr. Fox, while harnessing his broncho last Saturday, was kicked just south of the fruit bin."

A Fruit Combine

Trade Gazette intimates that such an organization is partly responsible for high cost of living. The current issue of the Trade Gazette published at Calgary, contains an interesting article on the existence in that city of an alleged combine of fruit and produce wholesalers. Prices are fully gone into and it is shown that one firm, said to be outside the so-called combine, is selling fruit and produce at from 25 to 50 per cent cheaper than is quoted by other wholesalers. The question effects not only Calgary, but also the retailers in every town and city in the West and these should read the article very carefully.

In the same issue appears an interesting statement on the freight situation.

The Gazette has been appointed the official organ of the Calgary Builders' Exchange and a large section is devoted to articles of interest to the building trades.

Frank C.P.R versus Blairmore Married Men

One of the most interesting and exciting games of hockey seen this season was pulled off on the Blairmore rink between the Frank C.P.R. team and the Blairmore married men aided by Ford and Lewis of the senior team. At the end of three fifteen minute periods the score was according to the rules, 3-0 in favor of the C.P.R. Considering that this was positively the first appearance of

The Belmore Sketch club will appear at the basket social to be given in the church here on Tuesday evening next.

The popularity of this amateur aggregation of performers augurs well for dramatic work of a more professional character which will probably be undertaken in the near future.

W. J. Cole kindly handed over his pool room and bowling alleys to the Athletic Association on Saturday. The premises were under the direction of the officials during the day and all the proceeds went to promote athletics in the camp.

The Athletic Association realized a handsome sum as a result and are very grateful to Mr. Cole for his kind donation.

THE INEVITABLE MAN.

He Was a Lovely Specimen
For Fair Weather.

By IZOLA FORRESTER.

"Well," said Jolly Allan, prophetically wagging his forefinger, "there are two figures in the hammock. 'Just you girls wait until the inevitable man shows up and see where your friend will be.' Puff! Bling! Up is smoke."

"There have been men—" began Irene loftily.

"The most inevitable man!" protested Jolly—"the man, the right and only one. I know there have been. Wasn't I one of them last year? But, honest, it will do me world of good to see the right one come along and have both the girls fall in love with him, and your tastes are similar, you know." He dodged the cushion that whizzed from the hammock in his direction dexterously. "And then see the tumble in girl loyalty. You won't speak to each other, and every time the other one comes by with the inevitable man, that's what's frozen out will say 'Cut!'

"Jolly, there is a hint, you know, even to your imagination." Dorothy Arold rose from the hammock and sauntered about the room, her hands fastened in some refractory tulipins. They were pretty tulips, plump, fanned and bare to the elbows. So was their owner pretty—the very prettiest girl at Northern Lights except Dorothy, that one her closest friend, Irene.

It was nearly a month since the two girls had come to the inn at Northern Lights to spend their summer vacation.

The Lights was not a fashionable resort, strictly speaking, its guests and their doings were chronicled in the Sunday papers, but it was a quiet and lovely it had beauty, for beyond Newport or Atlantic City.

And then, as Jolly called it over again, there came the day of decision.

It was a gray day, threatening, squally, bringing with it a premature tang of September. Jolly Graham was going out on his boat to the lighthouse. As he came down the steps of the piazza Dorothy joined him, tall and slender, in her sailor suit and blouse.

Graham hesitated and glanced to where Irene stood.

"Afraid?" he asked laughingly, and Irene's smile challenged, and because of his words, but because of Dorothy and her silence.

"There's a storm coming," called Jolly. "I'll get the life savers ready to go out on a boat, and he'll have an hour to get out a seat, and he'll have an hour later, in his big heaved, rough way, would have given all he owned to get it back, for out on the gray sea the little white winged yacht would dip and dip, and sweep the waves, and the drowsy, drowsy boat would drift if it was a cry from those watching from the inn, and down at the little white life saving station below the lighthouse they were putting out the lights."

It was an odd summer crowd that filled the inn—students resting, students studying, people in search of peace, above all, and yet about them a sense of restlessness, as if they were in and out, there played perpetually the merry summer butterflies, who came and went with the weekly steamer.

Jolly Allan was a permanent fixture.

As son of the owner of Northern Lights at large he occupied a privileged position, but even Dorothy, Dorothy's dark eyes gazing at him in saughty disapproval, he did not retract one word.

"Just wait," he said. "Last year he didn't come, but he will this time. And when he comes, he will walk leisurely across one of the calm paths that led to the boat landing. Both were tall, both slender and golden-haired as sisters, but Dorothy's eyes were dark and grave, and Irene's were blue as the sky, and the gray in the rock crevices at her feet.

"Dol'ly, don't," gasped Irene as Tom lifted her into the boat.

The next morning Jolly sat on the piazza, looking hopefully to two figures in the hammock.

"We went on the early boat," he said blithely. "Congratulations! But was not he a really lovely specimen? For fair weather, I mean. Wasn't he?"

"Irene, I mean. I don't care if the inevitable can be postponed, can't I? We—Irene and I—have decided that our inevitable man must be twin."

With a quick, half impatient gesture he turned from them. "It is to late," he said. "Yes, it would be odd if he were the one."

As Jolly and a week later, he was it all right. And gradually Jolly's smile deepened, and he went about with his hands clasped, with a look of mystery, a look of a mysterious look of vision beyond mortal ken, for his prophecy was coming true.

Dudley Graham was the stranger's name. Jolly exulted in it. It couldn't be any better. And when he showed a couple of days Dudley showed off his self-possession of an unlimited "read" to boot and a disposition to scatter it, Jolly's admiration changed to respect, and he hoped Dudley's choice would fall on Dorothy, for himself he had preferred Irene.

But Dudley apparently had no choice. The cousins were the prettiest girls at the Lights; therefore he made love to both of them with absolute impartiality. And he was an artist at love-making, an original, a master of seduction and seductive stroke, but at days when all the world lay in a bridal veil of pearl and diamond, he would take the girls' out for a sail or send them up great clusters of forest flowers to inspect, and, with a look of admiration, exclaim, "How beautiful!"

"Which one?" asked Jolly, and every time at the Lights echoed the question. Perhaps no one thought it often than the girls themselves. Gradually they drew apart. There was no comparison, but the girls overcame it all, the old sweet cordiality was broken, and except when Dudley was with them they lived alone.

Dorothy it was. It was a wonderful thing, this strange new love, something not to be breathed, or, and her eyes were not made. Graham's heart did not beat, he was a good boy, for Dorothy, Irene, winsome, gay hearted, was oddly quiet and restrained these days, and, bearing Graham's voice in her ears as they two beat over the dip, dip, dip, she felt her heart ache for poor Dorothy.

And then, as Jolly called it over again, there came the day of decision.

It was a gray day, threatening, squally, bringing with it a premature tang of September. Jolly Graham was going out on his boat to the lighthouse. As he came down the steps of the piazza Dorothy joined him, tall and slender, in her sailor suit and blouse.

The Word "Bogus."

The word "bogus" is said by Dr. Ogilvie to be of French origin. Bogus means a notorious American swindler of a notorious American swindler who about the year 1835 flooded the western and southwestern states with counterfeit bills, sham mortgages and such like. Others connect the word with "bogie," a scarecrow or goblin, and some say it is derived from the French "boguie," meaning a ghost.

Others connect it with the "Bogey Paper" says, "I'm more than suspect the word to be a corruption of the French bogaine."

This bogaine was the sugar cane as delivered in its dry, crushed state from the mill, called cane trash, and fit only for burning.

But this is not the whole story.

It wasn't anything special about him.

He was merely a shapely, healthy youngster, clear eyed, clean shaven, with lips ready to whistle or smile and brown hair that wavy above his collar, and a frank, unashamed look in his eyes.

He was a Chinaman, he claimed.

Peter Thomson, teller of the Bank of Hamilton, Farnie, while mountain climbing last Sunday slipped about fifty feet above a steep precipice and sliding over the hard, smooth snow to the brink, plunged headlong for a distance of 150 feet. He regained consciousness and slid and worked his way down the old snowdrift to within a short distance of Fairy Creek, where he was found dead with his arms across his breast, stretched full length upon the snow.

The Jeanne Russell Co. appeared in "The American Girl" at the Blairmore opera house on Monday night, when the usual full house greeted this popular company. On Tuesday night another of their productions, "David Harum," was particularly well presented, while on Wednesday the choice of this company's favorites—"Two Married Men"—won the highest praise from all who were fortunate enough to attend. We regret that space will not permit our giving a lengthy write-up of the high-class plays and vaudeville put up by them this week, but bekeep for them as good reception on any future engagement for Blairmore as they will experience in any part of Southern Alberta.

The whist drive and dance given in the opera house Friday night, under the auspices of the Blairmore whist club, was a decided success. Over one hundred and fifty attended and all voted the affair enjoyable. The prize winners were, gents' first prize Mr. James Burrows, booby C. R. Pollock; ladies' first prize, Hilda Doubt, booby, Mrs. F. Hinds. Professor Crawford's orchestra rendered pleasing music throughout the evening.

To Our Readers

We are commencing in this issue, the first portion of what we hope shall become a regular feature of this paper, viz., a column devoted to some particular industry of this portion of the Crow's Nest Pass. We know the attempt is meager, and is capable of much improvement, but we have made a beginning, and a good beginning is sometimes half the battle.

In this neighborhood we have in a small area the most valuable natural resources. We know that development is only begun. We have learned something of the immense value of our resources. We have learned something too of the market for our products. Time alone is required to bring into this community thousands of people. We want The Pass filled with industrious people, and we are not so narrow minded as to believe that Blairmore is alone worthy of recognition. We know the assets we possess here. We are sure Blairmore can hold its own with any town and the fact of other towns growing up about us will not detract one iota from us. But as they grow we will grow. Their efforts should stimulate us to even greater endeavor. If our town deserves to be the queen city of The Pass, we have a right to it and we can make her so.

Let us be loyal to our town and all her best interests, and brood enough to welcome the development that is going on about us. Then shall we be so busy, helping along our own town that we shall have no time to knock others.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Pincher Creek takes umbrage to an article which appeared in these columns last week in reference to the recent hockey game of Blairmore versus Pincher ice. They try to disclaim the truth of the article; but we have it from even Pincher Creek citizens that some of Pincher's team acted very unsportsmanlike toward the visitors on that particular occasion. Pincher has played several games in The Pass, and particularly Blairmore, the present winter, and although Blairmore's team has been the subject of all kinds of misfortunes and defeat, they have borne their troubles like true sports and welcomed and treated all visitors with right friendly treatment.

Speaking of clean and dirty hockey playing, seems to be a big lot out of place and yet a trifle in place. It is the duty of every citizen, as well as the local paper, to advocate and try to maintain good, clean sport, and to put an end to every attempt to branch off from such ideal. In the past the sports afforded by The Pass teams in both winter and summer games have afforded one of the most pleasing features of our existence. On a few minor occasions game partisans have been known to shy wayward, but in no case has a repetition been committed by the same party, from the mere fact that such action never received the slightest encouragement. Every community needs its volume of recreation and sport, and no place is properly existent without these factors.

One of the greatest mors upon sport of the present day is that of gambling or abetting, and its practice should be taken up and treated severely by our authorities. If we can't boast and root in the interest of the game without going crazy and despoiling its influence through the contents of our pocket linings, we are not sports, and had better by far keep away from the scene of activities.

There is a stick used by hockey players that is intended to root at a piece of rubber on the ice. We have often seen this same stick rise high above the ice and hit the crust of a human head. It may be that the party to such a brutal act has no sense of feeling or honor, or else he is so ignorant that he does not know but that a human head is of a rubber composition. This is but an instance amongst some we have seen practiced during the course of some of our late games. Those some are dared to call "sport," while in reality the perpetrator is a modest type of a criminal. If we are to have sport and confidence of the sport-loving public, we must maintain the highest and cleanest standard in all its courses.

BLAIRMORE BRIEFS

F. E. Hinds returned from Lethbridge Sunday.

W. A. Beebe paid a visit to Macleod on Tuesday.

W. T. and Mrs. Eddy, of Lundbeck, spent a couple of days in town last week.

W. C. Robinson, of Cowley, came to town Tuesday and continued on to Crow's Nest at night.

J. F. Wilson, of Victoria, B.C., was in town this week. Mr. Wilson will reside at Coleman in future.

The ladies' aid of the Central Baptist church will hold a sale of work and supper in the Frayer building on the evening of March 20th. Sale will commence at 2 o'clock, supper from 6:30 to 8. Tickets 50 cents.

The Blairmore baseball club are getting busy, and are at present raising funds for the commencement of the coming season's work. It is to be hoped that the good fortune that has attended them in the past will attend them even two fold in the future.

The Pincher Creek ladies' hockey team, Blairmore, visited Blairmore Friday night and were defeated by the local team by a score of 2-1. The game was good and fast right through and the referee had the time of his life shying clear of the "pitcher"! Harry Hilton, of Pincher, referred the game in a fair manner. The line-up was as follows:

Pincher Creek: Miss Brydges goal Mrs. E. Hinds. Miss Marcellus point Mrs. W. Fisher. Mrs. Hartfield c point Miss Howe. Miss Hilton rover Miss Padon. Miss Dapper center Miss Turner. Miss Marcellus r w Miss Holloway. Miss Ramsey l w Miss Patterson.

Lewis Stockett, president of the Western Canada Coal Operators' Association, is in the city to-day conference with P. L. Nasinil, of the A. R. & L. Mr. Stockett will shortly take over the management of the Gulf Colliers here, and will then have charge of the C. P. R. mines at Hosmer, Lethbridge and Banffhead. It is rumored that he, too, will move to Calgary and take up his offices in the natural resources department of the C. P. R. as general superintendent of the company's mines in the province. — Lethbridge Herald.

Lundbreck Notes

J. McFarlane has returned from MacLeod.

J. Smith paid a visit to Cowley last Sunday.

Nurse MacDonald, of Lundbreck, has gone to Calgary.

Leo Griffiths, of this town, has gone to work in Cowley.

Dan Ingles and wife, of Bellevue, were here visiting a few days ago.

On Monday last a fine baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Huish of this town.

Mr. Lancaster of the B. and L. Co., returned last week from a visit to Calgary.

Mr. and Mrs. Carson and family left Lundbreck for Burnside last Wednesday.

Mesdames Moore and Smith walked from Lundbreck to Cowley last Thursday.

Mrs. McCulloch and daughter Alice visited friends at Coleman on Thursday last.

The party that left Lundbreck to attend the "Polo" dance at Cowley on Friday last, report a good time.

J. Prentiss is shortly going to his homestead. We wish Mr. Prentiss every success in his new venture.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Moore left town on Saturday to spend the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Drury of Cowley.

Mr. Edwards, Methodist minister, was in town on Saturday, visiting friends. He held Divine service here in the Anglican church on Sunday evening.

Constable Meade, of this town, has been transferred to Blairmore. He left for that town on Saturday last. His place here has been taken by Constable Rogan.

The Reverend Mr. Simpson has just had his house improved by a strong timber veneer. Mr. Courtney was busy meanwhile adding an additional room or two to his house.

How to cure a cold is a question in which many are interested. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has won its great reputation and immense sales by its remarkable cure for colds. It can always be depended upon. For sale by all dealers.

The dances given here lately under the auspices of the Victorian Order of Nurses, was a great success. Lundbreck and neighborhood was well represented. Dancing continued into the "wee sma' hours."

The children of Lundbreck school had to fall in with the rules of the new health act last Monday. The new act requires all children attending school to be vaccinated. There is no child now at the Lundbreck school who is not qualified under the new act.

A piece of flannel dampened with Chamberlain's Liniment and bound on to the affected parts is superior to any plaster. When troubled with lame back or pain in the side or chest give it a trial and you are certain to be more than pleased with the prompt relief which it affords. Sold by all dealers.

Mr. Sparrow, late of the Galbraith Coal Co., was in town last week. He gave glowing accounts of the Jasper Park district, whither he has now returned with his family. The output at the Jasper Park mine is said to be 400 tons daily. These 400 tons are said to be taken by the G. T. P., which is asking for more.

It is rumored that the Breckinridge & Land Coal Co. is closed down indefinitely. This item of news is given merely as a rumor, as it is not easy to get definite facts. Many men have left town for the mines at Jasper Park, west of Edmonton. Mr. Hayes, one of the last to go, left town for that locality last week.

There are three or four children running loose around Lundbreck. They are under school age and should be at school. That these children should be allowed to do as they please is a sign of some slackness somewhere, either on the part of the school trustees, or on the part of the home control. Advice in the educational department in Edmonton about such cases of children absenting themselves from school, states that it is the business of the Society of Neglected Children to look after them. If anyone can locate the headquarters of this society in The Pass, or can give any examples of any activity on the part of this society in The Pass, we should be glad to hear.

The Mail Order House

If those who patronize the far away business places will become a little more patriotic and support the home merchants they will be only doing their duty as citizens. Many expect—and they get it too—from the local stores during the hard times but often when they have the cash the local merchants are forgotten; and goods are purchased from catalogue houses. A writer to an exchange has the following to say regarding the mail order house:

"The Eastern mail order catalog is already here. What a wonderful look it is, not only for what it does not contain, but as well as for what it does. How eagerly this book is scanned from page to page, and the general offers it contains repeated; about the family table. But we miss some things which no doubt would be of great benefit to their customers. Where is their offer to pay cash to the farmer for his produce, or exchange goods for butter, eggs, grain or any other farm product—how much do they pay for your cattle f.o.b. at your depot, how much tax to support your schools and educate your children, how much do they offer for improvement of roads and bridges? What on page is their offer to contribute to the church? What line of credit will they extend to you when your crops are poor, and money gone, when through misfortune, such as prolonged strikes or through illness you are unable to send cash along with your order for groceries or clothing? Where is their offer to contribute to your entertainments? What have they done for you recently?"

"In short, will they do any thing to provide a market for what you have to sell; and thereby help to keep up the value of your estate? Will they do anything for social, church, school or government support, or do they take the dollar out of the community with no return except the goods you buy."

You are probably aware that pneumonia always results from cold, but you never heard of a cold resulting in pneumonia when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy was used. Why take the risk when this remedy may be had for a trifle. For sale by all dealers.

Lake City

Is the name of the Western Terminal Point of the proposed Crow's Nest Pass Electric Railway and is already tapped by the Pass line of the C. P. R., while the G. N. R. has already approached to within a few score of miles and must eventually pass through this admirably located town.

Lake City

Is located by the shore of Crox's Nest Lake, only a few miles east of the provincial boundary between Alberta and British Columbia, and just north of the international line. In reality, it is at the top of Canada where the majestic Rockies tower in serene magnificence over great chains and numerous fjords, reflecting their presence on the waters of this beautiful lake. Here also are afforded the very best tasks for the daring mountain climber and for huntsman who desires to outrival the quiet ways of the Rocky Mountain goat, sheep, deer or elk, which are the monarchy thereon.

In close proximity are numerous timber, mineral and fuel resources, development of which is now in its initial stages.

These resources include gold quartz, coal, iron and pulp wood.

Crow's Nest Lake has long been looked upon with promise as an admirable location for health and tourist resorts, and but now this promise is being realized. Plans for hotels, etc. are being arranged, as well as boat houses, and the most modern pleasure yachts will soon glide over the surface of this beautiful lake.

But a few weeks ago lots were placed on the market, and the agents have had their hands full attending to purchasers. Prices run from $150 up. For further particulars apply to the agents:

Burmis Scene of Great Development

Davenport Coal Company Active --- New Seams Opened Up --- Trackage and Shipping Facilities Being Improved.

The Davenport Coal Co., of Burmis, Alta., is today a company capitalized at half a million dollars and capable of an output of 800 or 1,000 tons of coal per day. With F. H. Mason of Spokane, its president, its secretary-treasurer, C. Hussey, and among its stockholders are such well known names as Clayton Miller, of the Smelting & Refinery Co., Spokane, A. D. Cole, Chas. Lund, W. A. Carey and E. T. Fitzsimmons, its present general manager, who resides in Burmis, Alta. Yet the property that is now worth millions, was once bald prairie and rocky upland. One day the C. P. R. Construction Co., moving their way westward, felt sure that there were indications of coal in that locality, but no real operation, was begun until about five years ago. When Mr. Hill made an attempt at development his work was on a very small scale. Only two years ago when the Davenport

Coal Co. took over the property, did real development take place. E. T. Fitzsimmons was appointed general manager of the property, Leonard C. Stevens, superintendent, and W. E. Riddle, sales agent and chief accountant. Since then the work has gone on rapidly. Two seams are in operation, while four others yet await development. The company plans very much larger operations this coming summer. A tipple is to be constructed of the most modern type, capable of handling 1,000 tons of coal per day. A larger power house will be erected, while the C. P. R. is putting in about two miles of extra trackage, affording very much greater facilities in handling the coal. With such an extensive industry in its midst, Burmis should be an active spot during the coming year.

More than $2,000 of lots have been sold during the last few months and a great many new houses have been built. A large steel bridge is being built this summer over the Old Man river, affording easy access to the South Fork country. This should be a great stimulus to making Burmis their trading center.

Burmis enjoys the unique position of having a splendid Presbyterian church, just recently opened. It has no saloon or bar yet, though plans have been submitted for a large $10,000 hotel.

Burmis is well situated. The townsite is a large, well elevated flat, like prairie, while at a distance can be seen the lofty snow capped mountains ranged around. All indications point to Burmis as likely to become one of the important villages of The Crows Nest Pass. We rejoice with its citizens in their optimistic outlook, believing that every industrious village is a real asset to The Press.

Our Schools

The Blairmore school board are showing themselves to be progressive and modern. The primary room has for some time been overtaxed. Now a fifth room is to be added, which shall provide a proper outlet for the surplus children, and we are sure will greatly increase the efficiency of the work done. We consider this an opportune moment to raise the question for kindergarten department. This would not cost the board more than perhaps $1200 a year to equip and would be of inestimable value to our children. We are of the opinion that there is nothing that so moulds character, and helps the child to get a natural outlook upon the world than the kindergarten. No amount of training afterward can make up to the child the loss of efficient kindergarten work. Teachers of the higher grades universally testify that all the after life of the child is determined by the first year in school and that kindergarten trained children are more observant, more susceptible to ideas than those allowed to remain home or play about the streets. We are learning now that it is wise to teach our children how to play well and that this is just as important as to learn them how to work well.

We hope the board will lose no time in inquiring themselves with the kindergarten idea, with the idea of equipping such at least not later than after the summer vacation.

Faithfully yours,
John Westwood

Blairmore has a fire chief. When his services are needed, ring up the Bellevue mine—only four miles away.

Two well-known Blairmore girls have taken advantage of the year sixteen-hundred and twelve and have popped the question to their prospective suitors. One of the latter is but green from the England Isle, and the other claims allegiance to Uncle Sam.

All are heartily invited to attend these meetings, both young and old.

An Appreciation

Princeton, B.C.
Feb. 19th, 1912

Editor Blairmore Enterprise.

Dear Sir,—Through business arrangements maturing somewhat sooner than expected, it was necessary for me to leave Coleman earlier than I intended, which prevented me personally thanking the many friends who so liberally contributed to the valuable parting gifts to my family and myself. I value very highly, not only the generosity, but also the good will and friendliness of so many friends after more than eight years residence in Coleman and as I may not have the opportunity of meeting some of them again, I take this opportunity (through your valuable paper) of thanking them and all; and with a sincere hope of their future happiness and prosperity of wishing them good bye.

We hope the board will lose no time in inquiring themselves with the kindergarten idea, with the idea of equipping such at least not later than after the summer vacation.

Faithfully yours,
John Westwood
